CANADIAN AGENCY LAW

(Fridman)

$150 + GST | 304 Pages | Hardcover | May 2009 | ISBN: 9780433459101

Canadian Agency Law is a comprehensive overview of the nature, formation, and termination of agency in Canada. Professor Fridman draws on Canadian case law and statutes to clarify the various competing common law principles that affect each party to an agency relationship: agent, principal, and third parties. His analysis will assist you to:

LexisNexis® Butterworths®

- Draft solid agency contracts that avert future uncertainty and conflict
- Understand the role of agents in the context of corporations, partnerships, the Crown, and other business structures
- Appreciate how agents can both use and misuse their authority
- Protect agents' rights so that they can properly carry out their business
- Limit the authority of agents so that they cannot bind principals to unintended contractual obligations

September 2009 NOVA SCOTIA COMPANIES ACT & COMMENTARY, 2010 EDITION
(Bradley)

$55 + GST | Approx. 350 Pages | Softcover | September 2009 | Biennial
ISBN: 9780433457824

This publication provides a comprehensive consolidation of Nova Scotia's business law statutes, including the newly revised NSCA, along with expert commentary explaining all of the new changes and the key features of this unique legislation.

The NSCA is not currently published commercially in Canada, often leaving corporate legal practitioners and students in Nova Scotia to use unwieldy, un-indexed and often out-dated internet printouts. This publication finally provides a useful reference resource, offering a legislative consolidation of the NSCA together with related statutes, regulations and extensive commentary on such important topics as Nova Scotia's unlimited liability companies (ULCs).

LAW'S EXPRESSION – COMMUNICATION, LAW AND MEDIA IN CANADA (Hamilton)

$45 + GST | Approx. 160 Pages | Softcover | November 2009 | ISBN: 9780433457732

Rather than a technical handbook, Law's Expression – Communication, Law and Media in Canada is an enlightened, introductory resource that helps readers gain a broad understanding of how the laws impacting our expression increasingly implicate us all. A recommended compliment to other rules-based law and communications handbooks for anyone entering the communications, journalism or legal field.

You'll Learn How:

- Laws often fail in regulating communication and expression — and how you can best arm yourself to make empowered choices
- Journalists and members of the media are affected via publication bans, new online communications regulations, confidentiality of sources, etc.
- Law is covered by the media and reported in the news
- Our freedom of speech is impacted by criminal laws surrounding obscenity, child pornography and hate speech
- The government is increasingly regulating how ordinary people communicate
- To interpret intellectual property laws in a Canadian media context
- To better grasp the many perplexing legal issues at play affecting communications, journalism and media professionals today

April 2009

CANADIAN CONTRACT LAW, 2ND EDITION (Swan)

$275 + GST | 1,051 Pages | Hardcover | April 2009 | ISBN: 9780433460442

Practitioner and academic Angela Swan presents a general framework to help you understand all problems that may arise in a contractual relation, deal with them effectively, and avoid frustrated expectations. She applies each rule of contract law to practical contexts to answer four central questions:

- What exactly is the problem?
- How do the rules deal with this problem?
- What is the solution?
- What other consequences and solutions may exist that the courts have not yet explored?

This in-depth examination covers all aspects of contract law, including offer and acceptance, consideration, conditions, remedies for breach of contract, interpretation, the control of contract power, and illegality. Cases are current to December 2008, and

March 2009 THE SENTENCING CODE OF CANADA – PRINCIPLES AND OBJECTIVES (Renaud)

$130 + GST | 672 Pages | Softcover | March 2009 | ISBN: 9780433458364

The Sentencing Code of Canada – Principles and Objectives gives you a comprehensive, near exhaustive review of Sections 718–718.21 of the Criminal Code. This one-stop resource sets out the five most important steps in sentencing that the Court and counsel must consider in every case, organized from broadest to most specific:

- The codified objectives
- The codified fundamental principle
- The codified secondary principles
- The codified circumstances, including aggravating and mitigating circumstances
- Additional factors

Analysis of each element includes references to both leading and lesser known decisions from across the country to illuminate how courts have applied these objectives and principles. Detailed extracts from key decisions illustrate the weight given to particular principles in various sentencing situations and will help you present an authoritative submission almost immediately.

March 2009 CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY – A LEGAL ANALYSIS (Kerr/Janda/Pitts)

LexisNexis® Butterworths®

$150 + GST | 680 pages | Hardcover | March 2009 | ISBN: 9780433451150

Corporate Social Responsibility – A Legal Analysis is the first comprehensive legal text on global CSR. It examines the hard and soft laws that ground CSR to show that responsible corporate behaviour has become a matter of important legal concern for virtually every corporation. This book answers four essential questions:

- What is CSR?
- What is driving it?
- What are the legal dimensions of CSR?
- What are its likely future legal developments?

The authors address these issues with common-law examples from Canada, the United States, the United Kingdom, and Australia, as well as European Union law and developments in Asia, Africa, and Latin America. Their analysis compares how national laws, international treaties, and voluntary initiatives differently reflect the seven CSR principles they have identified – principles of critical importance to corporations operating in multiple jurisdictions.
